Delicious cakes, luscious preserves ...

I bake everything myself, to order, in my own kitchen. I make preserves in small batches, using seasonal fruit and vegetables, organic and locally grown if possible. I use only the finest ingredients, organic wherever possible, in my cakes; like the dark, organic Belgian chocolate in my brownies and chocolate cakes, and organic, unrefined cane sugar. My husband can't cope with gluten, so I've worked hard on ways of creating delicious cakes we can all enjoy. I've worked out a special blend of gluten-free flours that I'm really happy with, and now, all my cakes are wheat- and gluten-free. They have a fine texture and are light and delicate in the mouth; in fact, I think they taste a whole lot better than cakes made with wheat. I don't use artificial additives or flavours; just good, wholesome ingredients. So I hope you'll try one of my cakes and taste the difference for yourself! If you have any other dietary requirements, do let me know.
